Home-Grown Herbs

Sunny acres of field grown aromatic Herbs are shown in the illustration ready to be harvested. After they are gathered, great basketfuls of fragrant leafage from wholesome plants, they are scientifically dried in rooms set apart for this purpose, carefully prepared with modern laboratory equipment for various culinary uses. A portion being blended according to our own formulas for Salad Herbs, Poultry and Turkey Stuffing, Omelet Herbs, Savory Mixed Herbs, Tomato Recipes, Poultry Basting Herbs, etc., while the balance is put up as single ingredients, such as Basil, Sweet Marjoram, Thyme, Sage, Summer Savory, Tarragon, etc. Placed in tightly closed glass jars, attractively labeled, the strength of their wholesome, aromatic "vertue" should last a long time.

HERBS, whether the fresh leaves from the garden or the dried, are not like strong condiments or Eastern spices. They are an added bit of leafage from some aromatic wholesome plant or a blend of several, that gives a subtle flavor, well-chosen, for that particular type of food.

DRIED HERBS: For Complete List and prices see page 3.
